

SEAS Newsletter

Dear Members & Partners,

The year is almost over, and there were many exciting developments in the industry. We hope the year has been fruitful for you.

In this issue of the newsletter, we present trends in sustainable energy in 2015, as well as coverage of the recently concluded Asia Clean Energy Summit (ACES), organised by SEAS. ACES took place on the 28th and 29th of October, and participants shared positive feedback, and also with some good suggestions for improvements for ACES next year. We also highlight some relevant points in the Sustainable Singapore Blueprint, and JTC has also shared their outlook on their sustainability in 2015. We have had many activities this year and we would also like to share some photos of these activities with you.

Please do reach out to us if you have any exciting news to share with the sustainable energy community in Singapore. We will be happy to feature it in our newsletter. SEAS is also on social media so please like us, follow us and join us to stay up to date with your sustainable energy news. I look forward to seeing you at SEAS meetings, events, trainings, conferences, trade missions and much more that we have planned for you in the coming year. Please also tell us how we can help you better through our member survey.

Wishing you and your loved ones a happy, productive and peaceful 2015.

Warm Regards
Kavita Gandhi
