Government announces new SolarNOVA programme

Minister Iswaran announced that the Economic Development Board (EDB) is going to work with various government agencies to deploy solar power across government buildings and spaces through a new programme called "SolarNOVA". This creates a market for solar power, giving the sector a boost and growing its presence in Singapore further. Full article here.

Solar Leasing—Affordable Power Within Our Reach. PLUS: Interview with Frank Phuan.

With solar power growing rapidly in Singapore, both the government and private sector want to adopt solar as a clean alternative source of energy to meet our rising energy needs. However, there are smaller companies who are unable to pay the high upfront costs of solar power systems. Solar leasing comes in as an affordable option. SEAS also spoke with Frank Phuan, one of the pioneers in solar leasing in Singapore. Read the full article here.
